Observations Arriving on site, I met Stan Green at the job site trailer. He mentioned work was moving forward with storefront installations in select parts of the façade. Also, he has had issues with the sealant contractor's schedule. He mentioned that the crane is in place for the erection of the precast at the drive thru and that they attempted to set panels last week but due to high winds were unable.

Inside, drywall installers were still at work as well as mechanical installers.
